Business issues

- Tower in a short time
- Prepare model of existing structure
- Propose new geometry solutions and prepare complete documentation

„Advance Steel gives opportunity not only to create complete workshop documentation, it also provides a lot of information, which are very useful for designing and construction process. Professional technical support is a big advantage especially in phase of software implementation and regular work afterward.“

Business results

- Additional verification of the construction's mass set up during calculation of the resistance.
- Possibility of preparing proper documentation - all necessary technical drawings as well as axiomatic views of complex elements of the construction “readable” for site engineers.
